FOREWORD

The Government of Andhra Pradesh has unleashed a new era in school education by introducing extensive curricular reforms from the academic year 2020-21. The Government has taken up curricular reforms intending to enhance the learning outcomes of the children with focus on building solid foundational learning and to build up an environment conducive for an effective teaching-learning process. To achieve this objective, special care has been taken in designing the textbooks to achieve global standards.

There are twelve lessons in the textbook. These lessons are developed based on six themes i.e., Diversity on the earth, Production exchange and livelihood, Political systems and governance, social organisations and inequalities, religion and society, culture and communications. This book will help the students to study different aspects of our social life about diversity of land and people, how people get their livelihood, how people acquire for their common needs and manage them, why all people in our society are not equal, how people try to bring about equality, how people worship different Gods in different ways, and finally how they communicate with each other and build a culture which is shared by them.

We are grateful to Honourable Chief Minister Sri. Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy for being our source of inspiration to carry out this extensive reform in the education department. We extend our gratitude to Dr. Adimulapu Suresh, Honourable Minister of Education for striving towards qualitative education. Our special thanks to Sri. Budithi Rajsekhar, IAS, Principal Secretary, School Education, Sri. Vadrevu Chinaveerabhadrudu, IAS, Commissioner, School Education, Smt. Vetriselvi.K, IAS, State Project Director, Samagra Siksha & Special Officer, English Medium Project, Sri. D. Madhusudhana Rao, Director, Govt. Textbook Press, A.P, for their constant motivation and guidance.

We convey our thanks to the textbook writers who studied curriculum from Massachusets to Singapore and recommended best practices across the globe to reach global standards. Our heartfelt thanks to NCERT, SCERTs of Kerala, Tamilnadu, Maharashtra, Chhattisgarh and Gujarat in designing the textbooks. We also thankful to our textbook writers, editors, artists and layout designers for their contribution in the development of this textbook. We invite constructive feedback from the teachers and parents in further refinement of the textbook.

ACADEMIC STANDARDS / LEARNING OUT COMES

Time should be spent in making sure that children comprehend the passages given in the text. In-between questions are useful in this context. These questions are of different types that would include the aspects reasoning, cause, and effect, justification, mind mapping/concept mapping, observation, analysis, thinking and imagination, reflection, interpreting, etc. The key concepts have been discussed sub-concept-wise in every chapter with examples and also given in the form of keywords.

1) Conceptual understanding : Promoting the learning of basic concepts through inquiry, discussion, reflection giving examples through case studies interpreting, observation, etc.

2) Reading the text (given), understanding, and interpretation : Occasionally there are case studies about farmers, laborers in the factory, or images that are used in the text which do not directly convey the concept. Time should be given for children to grasp the main ideas, interpret images, etc

3) Information skills : Textbooks alone cannot cover all different aspects of social studies methodology. For example, children living in an urban area can collect information regarding their elected representatives, or children living in a rural area can collect information about the way irrigation/tank facilities are made available in their area. This information may not exactly match with that of the textbooks and will have to be clarified. Representing the information that they have collected through projects is also an important ability. For example, if they collect information about a tank - they may decide to draw an illustration or map, etc along with written material. Or represent the information collected through images or posters. Information skill includes a collection of information tabulation/records and analysis.

4) Reflection on contemporary issues and questioning : Students need to be encouraged to compare their living conditions along with that of different regions or people from different times. There may not be a single answer to these situations of comparison. Giving reasons for certain happening processes and justification of informatics and interpretation.

5) Mapping skills : There are different types of maps and pictures used in the textbook. Developing ability related to maps as an abstract representation of places is important. There are different stages of developing this ability, from creating a map of their classroom to understanding height, distance as represented in a map. There are illustrations, posters, and photographs used in the textbook, these images often relate to the text and are not merely for visual effect. Sometimes there are activities like 'write a caption' or 'read the images that are about architecture etc.

6) Appreciation and Sensitivity : Our country has a vast diversity in terms of language, culture, caste, religion, gender, etc. Social studies do take into consideration these different aspects and encourage students to be sensitive to these differences.

- Have you ever seen this picture?
- Can you say a few words about this picture?
- Do you know the importance of this fort in history?

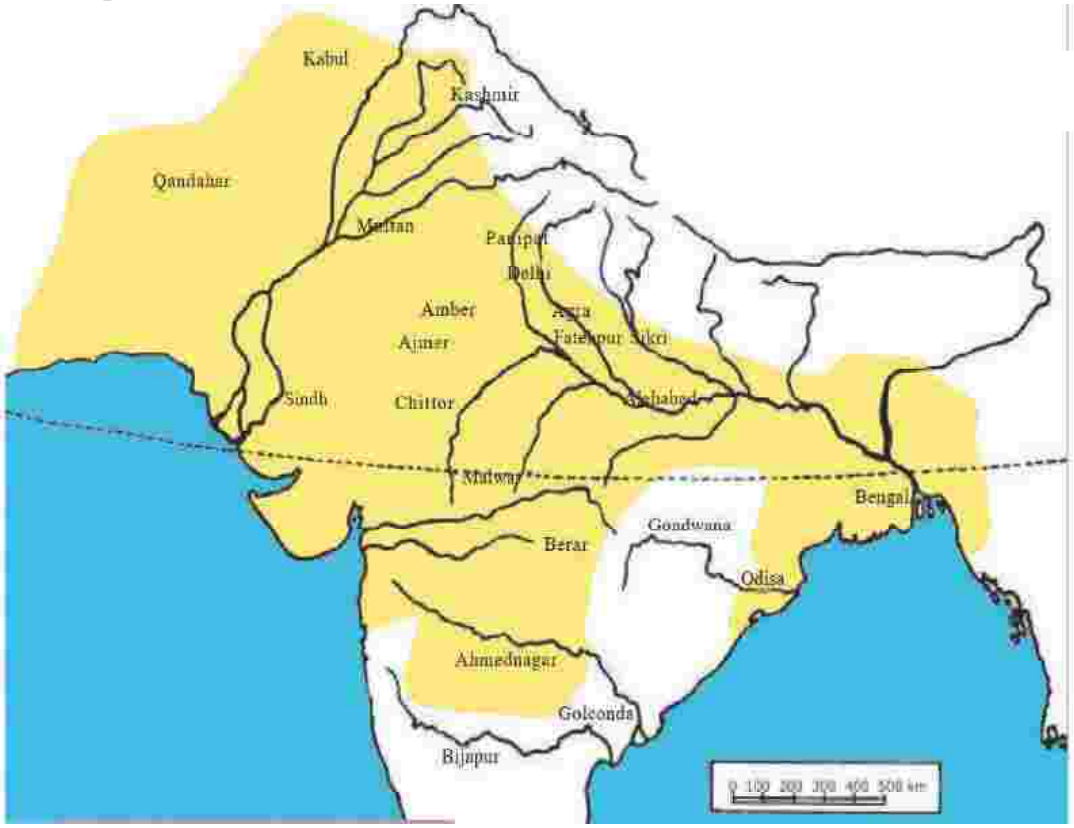

This fort was built by Shahjahan. He belongs to Mughal Empire. The rise of the Mughals has brought a great change in medieval Indian History. They imposed structures of administration and ideas of governance that outlasted their rule, leaving a political legacy that succeeding rulers of the sub- continent could not ignore.

Today the Prime Minister of India addresses the nation on Independence Day from the Red fort in Delhi. Once it was the residence of the Mughal emperors.

7.1. Rulers of Mughal Empire :

Babur established Mughal empire after defeating Ibrahim Lodi the last ruler of Delhi Sultanate at Panipat in 1526 C.E. It marked the beginning of Mughal Empire. This was one of the earliest battles involving gunpowder firearms and field artillery. The empire stretched from the outer fringes of the Indus basin in the west, northern Afghanistan in the North West, and Kashmir in the north, to the highlands of present - day Assam and Bangladesh in the east, and the uplands of the Deccan Plateau in South India.

Map-1.1 Mughal Empire during Akbar's Period

Babur (1526-1530 CE):

Babur occupied Delhi and Agra after the first battle of Panipat and founded the Mughal empire in India in 1526 C.E. He was pre occupied with military campaigns to lay a strong foundation for the empire. He could not find time to concentrate on administration.In 1530 C.E, Babur fell ill and died.

Fig-1.2: Babur

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Do You Know?

- Babur was related to Timur from his father's side and to Chengiz Khan's dynasty from his mother side. The Mughals (descendants of Mongols) preferred to call themselves the Chaghatayids, after Chengiz's second son, Chaghatay.
- The Word "Mughal" comes from "Mongol".

Humayun (1530-1540 & 1555-1556 CE) :

His son Humayun came to throne after Babur, but, Humayun's brothers did not help him at the right time. So he lost his throne to Sher Khan, an Afghan king. Sher Khan, defeated Humayun at Chausa and Kanauj (1540) and forced him to flee to Iran. In Iran, Humanyun received help from Safavid Shah. He recaptured Delhi in 1555 CE but died in an accident in 1556 CE.

Fig-1.3: Humayun

Think & Respond

Would Sher Shah have been able to seize the Mughal throne if the brothers of Humayun had helped him,?

Sher Shah (1540-1545 CE):

- Sher shah Sur was an Afghan leader who had progressed on his own. He defeated Humayun twice and therefore established the Sur Dynasty in Delhi.
- After gaining control over Delhi, he won many other important battles. He then extended his Empire from Kabul to Bengal and Malwa.
- He was not only a great warrior but also an administrator. He died in an explosion in 1545 CE. During his five years he introduced many reforms.
- Humayun could capture Delhi in 1555 CE due to the inefficiencies of Sher Shah's succeessors.

Fig-1.4: Shershah

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Akbar (1556-1605 CE) :

Akbar was just 13 years old when his father Humayun passed away. Since Akbar was very young, his guardian Bhairam Khan took care of the administration on behalf of Akbar. Hemu established his rule over Delhi when Akbar was in Punjab. With the guidance of Bairam Khan, Akbar defeated Hemu in the battle of second Panipat in 1556 C.E.

Fig-1.5: Akbar

The Mughals were able to form a vast empire after this. From 1561 to mid-1590s, the Mughal empire expanded, conquering the kingdoms of Malwa, Chunar, Gondwana. He occupied the Rajput kingdoms also.

Many Rajputs surrendered to Akbar and married off their daughters. However, the Mewad ruler Maharana Pratap fought with Akbar throughout his life.He got back all his forts except chittoor. Akbar invaded Deccan and the southern kingdoms. He died in 1605 and Jahangir came to the throne.

Think & Respond

- What would have happened in the Mughal Empire if there was no Bhairam Khan in the life of Akbar? Many Rajput rulers joined Akbar's court. But Ranapratap did not. Why?

Let's Do

- Collect the detailed names of the Navaratnas in the court of Akbar.

Do You Know?

- Birbal: Raja Birbal was a close associate of emperor Akbar. Birbal was a great singer and poet in the court of Akbar. Akbar was highly influenced by him.
- Rani Chand Bibi of Ahmednagar was the woman that opposed Akbar.

Jahangir (1605-1627 CE):

Salim the successor of Akbar came to the throne with the tittle Jahangir (world conqueror) He levied some local taxes on trade and manufacturing of goods. He was not only addicted to opium but also neglected the affairs of the state, and came under the influence of Meharunnisa (Nurjahan).

Fig-1.6: Jahangir

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Shahjahan (1628-1658 CE) :

Shahjahan was the son of Jahangir. Shajahan'e period was much known for the construction of buildings. In his period also, Mughal campaigns continued in the Deccan. He faced many revolts by nobles and chiefs of his empire. In 1657- 1658 CE, there was a conflict over succession among Shah Jahan's sons. Aurangzeb killed his three brothers and occupied the throne. Shah Jahan was imprisoned for rest of his life in Agra.

Fig-1.7: Shah Jahan

Aurangzeb (1658 -1707 CE) :

He was the younger son of Shah Jahan. He was a devout muslim and led his life as per the principles of Quaran. He did not show tolerance to other religions. He faced a large number of revolts all over his kingdom i.e. Assam, Rajasthan, Punjab, Deccan, etc. mostly due to his religious intolerance. Guru Tejh Bahadur, Guru Govind Singh, Shivaji revolted against him. Among them Shivaji succeeded in establishing an independent Maratha kingdom. After the death of Shivaji Aurangzeb invaded deccan mainly to conquer the marathas. But he could not do it. Aurangzeb conqured Bijapur in 1685 C.E and Golkonda in 1687 C.E. His death was followed by a successive conflict amongst his sons.

Fig-1.8: Aurangzeb

Let's Do

- Prepare a timeline chart of the Mughal Empire.
- Locate the following places in the outline map of India. Delhi, Agra, Fatehpur Sikri, Chithorgarh, Ahmadnagar.

7.2. Political, Social & Economic life :

7.2.1. Administration :

The Mughals had a centralized administration. All power vested with the emperor. A council of ministers assisted him in administration. Babur and Humayun had less impact on administration, as they did not rule for a long period.

Akbar introduced a number of administrative reforms. He divided his vast empire into several "Subas" and appointed a "subedar" for each suba. "Suba" was the term for a province in the Mughal Empire. Akbar divided his kingdom into 15 Subas. Subas were divided into "Sarkars". These Sarkars were divided into "Paraganas" The same pattern was followed by all other Mughal emperors.

Akbar surveyed the land and introduced the agrarian method of determining tax according to the crop. The land was divided into four types and One-third of the crop was collected as tax. Impressions of Shersha's administration could be noticed to some extent in Akbar's rule.

Mansabdari System:

Akbar introduced the Mansabdari system in his military policy. The term mansabdar refers to an individual who holds a mansab, meaning a position or rank. It was a grading system used by the Mughals to fix (1) rank, (2) salary and (3) military responsibilities. Each mansabdar consist of 10 to 10,000 soldiers.

Fig-1.9: A Mansabdar on march with his sawars

Relations of Mughals with other rulers:

The Mughals campaigned and fought against rulers who did not obey them. As a part of their diplomacy, Mughals maintained relations with Rajputs by marrying their daughters, offering better position in their court. The Sisodiyas did not accept Mughal authority. The good relations with Rajputs, Sikhs and other rulers during Akbars time began to deteriorate during Shajahan's time and became worse during the reign of Aurangzeb. There were revolts in all parts of he empire during his reign. The empire declined very quickly after the death of Aurangzeb.

Let's Do

List the kingdoms those that supported and opposed to the Mughals.

7.2.2. Social Life :

Religion:

Mughals are Sunni Muslims. Akbar showed religious tolerance. He Abolished "Jizya tax" and "Pilgrim tax" levied on the Hindus but Aurangzeb reimposed these taxes during his reign. Akbar allowed religious ceremonies of people to be celebrated openly but Aurangzeb banned it.The majority of the people in the society were the Hindus. The society of the day consisted not only of the Hindus and the Muslims but also of the Buddhists, the Jains, the Sikhs and the Parsis. Aurangzeb also appointed clergymen named Mutawasibs to observe the moral life of the people as per Sharia or Islamic principles.

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Do You Know?

- Akbar, in 1575CE built a meeting house of worship called Ibadat Khana at Fatehpur Sikri. In 1582 CE he proclaimed a new religion called Din-I-Ilahi. Literally meaning "Peace with all", Universal Peace or absolute peace As applied by Akbar, it described a peaceful and harmonious relationship among different religions. Only 18 people joined this religion.This remained a court religion.

Fig-1.10: Ibadat Khana

Explore

"Din-I-Ilahi could not become a peoples movement".-Why? Ask your teacher to know more about it.

7.2.3. Economic Life:

The Indian Economy prospered under the Mughal Empire. Agriculture and trade also progressed. Agriculture was the main occupation of the people.

The Mughals were responsible for building an extensive road system, creation of uniform currency, and the unification of the country. The Empire had an extensive road network built by a public works department set up by the Mughals. It designed, constructed and maintained roads, linking towns and cities across the empire. This was one of the reasons for the expansion of trade. The important source of income was the revenue from agricultural tax.

Think & Respond

Compare the present land revenue system to that of Mughal system.

Coinage

The Mughals adopted and standardized the Rupee (silver) and Dam (copper) currencies introduced by the Sur emperor Sher shah Sur during his brief rule. The Dam was initially the most common coin in Akbar's time.

Fig-1.11: Coins

Agriculture :

Indian Agricultural production increased under the Mughal Empire. A variety of crops were grown, including food crops such as wheat, rice, and barley and non –food cash crops such as cotton, indigo and opium. Indian cultivators began to grow extensively the commercial crops maize and Tobacco.

Zabat :

A remarkable feature of the Mughal system under Akbar was his revenue administration, developed largely under the supervision of his famed Hindu Minister Raja Todar Mal. Akbar's efforts to develop a revenue schedule both convenient to the peasents and sufficiently profitable to the state took some two decades to implement. In 1580CE he obtained the previous 10years' local revenue statistics, detailed productivity and price fluctuations, and averaged the produce of different crops and their prices. It ranged from one-third to one-half of production value and was payable in "dams". This system was called zabat.

Industrial Manufacturing :

The textile industry developed in the Mughal Empire. It included the production of fleece, calicos, and muslins in a variety of colors. The cotton textile Industry was responsible for a large part of the empire's international trade. Silk and cotton textiles were exported in large quantities to Europe, Indonesia and Japan.

7.3. Art & Architecture :

A new tradition of architecture was started during the Mughal era. The monuments were constructed on high plinths. Marble was mostly used as construction material and constructed water flowing fountains extensively. Besides marble, coloured (precious and semi-precious) stones were used to decorate the buildings.

Fatehpur Sikri :

After his military victories over Chittor and Ranthambore, Akbar decided to shift his capital from Agra to a new location, on the Sikri ridge, to honor the Sufi saint Salim Chishti. Here he commenced the construction of a planned walled city. He named the city, Fatehbad, with Fateh, meaning 'victorious.' it was later called Fatehpur Sikri. Fatehpur Sikri is one of the best-preserved collections of Mughal architecture in India.

Buland Darwaza:

Buland Darwaza or the lofty was built by the great Mughal emperor, Akbar at Fatehpur Sikri. Akbar built the Buland Darwaza, as a "victory arch" to commemorate his successful; Gujarat campaign. Panch Mahal is another notable five storeyed building in Fatehpur Sikri with excellent architectural designs.

Fig-1.12: Buland Darwaza

Red Fort :

The Red Fort was built as the fortified family palace of Shahjahanabad, capital of the Mughal Emperor Shah Jahan. The Red Fort is considered to represent the zenith of Mughal creativity under Shah Jahan and consists of other important structures such as the Diwan-e-Aam, Diwan-e-Khas, Moti Masjid, Hayat Bakhsh Bagh and Rang Mahal.

Fig-7.13: Red Fort

The Taj Mahal :

The Taj Mahal is a white marble mausoleum located in Agra, Uttar Pradesh, India. It was built by Mughal emperor Shah Jahan in memory of his third wife, Mumtaz Mahal. Taj Mahal is regarded as the finest example of Mughal architecture and is considered as one of the Seven Wonders of the World. The Taj Mahal is widely recognized as 'The jewel of Mughal. art in India and one of the universally admired masterpieces of the world's heritage'.

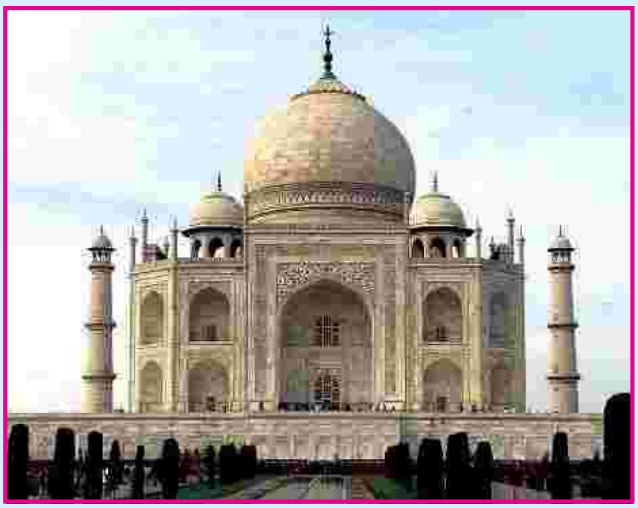

Fig-7.14: Taj Mahal

Culture :

The Mughal Empire was definitive in the early- modern and modern period of Indian history, with its legacy in India seen in cultural contributions such as"

- The combination of Persian art and literature with Indian art.
- The development of Mughal clothing, jewellery and fashion, utilizing richly decorated fabrics such as muslin silk brocade and velvet.
- The evolution and refinement of Mughal and Indian architecture.
- The construction of Maktab schools, where youth were taught the Quran and Islamic law such as the Fatwa- i- Alamgir in their indigenous languages.

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Literature :

Persian language was the dominant and official language of the Empire. Babur nama was written by Babur. Abul Fazal was a great scholar. He wrote Ain-I-Akbari and Akbar Nama. Tuzuk-I-Jahangiri was an autobiography of Jahangir. Shajahan's son Dhara Shiko translated the Bhagavat Gita, Mahabharata into Persian language. The most influential Hindi poet Tulsidas wrote the Hindi version of the Ramayana, the Ramacharithmanas.

Fig-1.15: Akbar receiving the Akbar Nama from Abul Fazal

Painting :

A new school of art known as miniature painting emerged during the Mughal period. The art of painting reached its peak under the patronage of Jahangir Mughal paintings. The colours peacock blue, Indian red were newly introduced in painting.

Music :

Though Babar and Humayun had also encouraged music, but it reached their hight during Akbar's era. Aurangzeb prohibited all programmes of music. According to Abul Fazal, there were 36 singers in Akbar's court. The most famous among them was Tansen and Bajbahadur. Akbar himself used to play nakara (Nagara) well. Tansen was one of Akbar's navratnas. It is said that he could work miracles with his singing. Occasionally he could create rain by singing the Megh Malhar, fire by singing rag Dipak. The present Hindustani Music have the references of these styles.

Browse internet or go through the library books to know more about the literature of the Mughal period. (Ask your teacher).

End of Mughal Rule :

The decline of Mughal empire started with Shah jahan and ended with Aurangzeb. The Mughal empire declined quickly after the death of Aurangzeb. The following are the reasons for the decline:

1. The nature and policies of Aurangzeb: the suspicious nature of Aurangzeb did not allow any of his sons or nobles to grow to be capable. His religious bigotry resulted in the revolts of Jats, Satnamis, and Sikhs. His rivalry with Rajputs and Marathas brought misfortune for his empire.

https://amaravathiteacher.com

2. The successors of Aurangzeb proved incapable. Most of them have been addicted to luxurious life.
3. Most of the nobles had become corrupt.
4. The wars of succession for the empire among the sons weakened the administration.
5. The deccan policy of Shah Jahan and Aurangzeb further weakened the empire.
6. Invasions of Ahmad Shah, Nadir Shah and the revolts of Mansabdars also caused the downfall.
7. The Mughal empire established by Babar in 1526 C.E., started declining from 1707 C.E. Bahadur Shah - II was the last Mughal ruler.

7.4. Contemporary Kingdom :

The contemporary rulers during Mughals were Afghans, Rajputs, Marathas, and Bahaman kings. They opposed Mughal rulers and fought with them. In course of time most of these rulers ecould not completely succeed in defeating the Mughals.But the Maratha ruler Shivaji could resist the expansion of Mughals and established an independent kingdom.

Shivaji - Maratha Kingdom (1630 - 1680 CE):

Marathas were the ones who fought relentlessly against the Mughals in the Deccan region, when Mughals were at their height of power in North India. Shivaji was the founder of the Maratha kingdom.

Shivaji was born in Shivaneri fort near Pune. His father was Shaji Bhonsle. He held a high post in the office of the Sultan of Bijapur. Shivaji was brought up under the care of his mother Jijabai. He was inspired by the teachings of Samartha Ramadas and other Maratha saints. His tutor Dadaji Khondadev and Tanaji Malasure taught him the lessons of warfare. Shivaji assembled the Maratha leaders and Mavalis, the trible people of Western Ghats and built a strong brigade.

Footsteps of Shivaji:

At the age of 19, Shivaji captured Torana Durga, which was under the control of Mahammad Adilshah of Bijapur. After this, he won Raigarh, Simhagarh, Pratapgarh etc.one by one. Enraged by this the Sultan of Bijapur sent his general Afzal Khan to suppress Shivaji. Afzal Khan wanted to kill Shivaji deceitfully. So he invited Shivaji under the pretext of reconciliation. Expecting this, Shivaji killed Afzal Khan with 'Vyaghra Nakha' (Tiger's claw), a weapon that he had with him.

On learning these advancements of Shivaji, Aurangzeb sent his general Shaista Khan to Deccan province to curb him down. But clever Shivaji was able to defeat Shaista Khan.

Fig-7.17: Shivaji

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Fig-1.18: Shivaji Fort in Raighad

This maddened Aurangazeb. So he sent a huge army under the leadership of Raja Jayasimha. Jayashimha defeated Shivaji and captured a few Maratha forts. At the end Jayasimha invited Shivaji to come to have treaty with Aurangzeb. Aurangzeb arrested Shivaji on his arrival and kept him in the prison of Agra. But Shivaji cleverly escaped from jail and reached his capital.

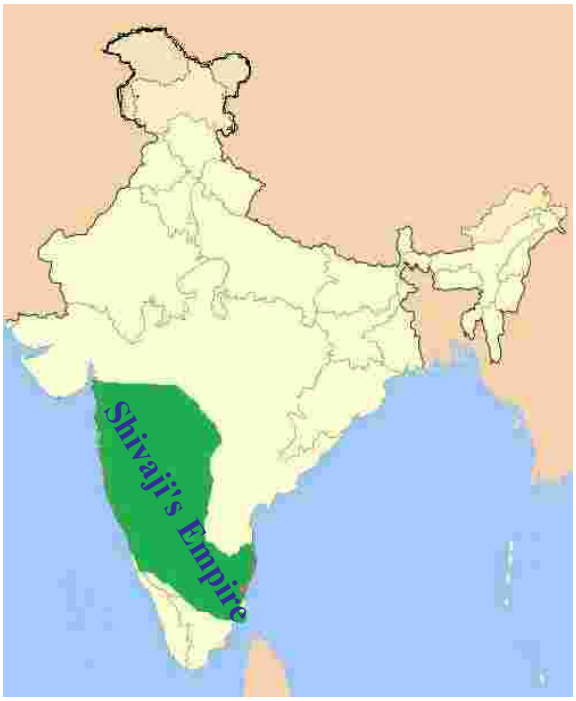

After that, he won all the forts that he had lost to the Mughals. He attacked Surat and ran sacked heavy wealth from there.

Coronation of Shivaji:

In Raigarh Shivaji was conferred with the title 'Chhatrapati' and was crowned king of Marathas in a grand ceremony. Soon after coronation Shivaji won Jinji, Velluru and large area of Mysore province and received a heavy tribute. But Shivaji could not live long to witness the grandeur of the Marathas.

Administration of Shivaji:

Though Shivaji devote Hindu he respected other religions. He ordered his soldiers to respect women and other religious texts. Though he has less formal education his cleverness, administrative abilities and strategies were excellent. He trained his army in guerrilla warfare and made them great warriors. He developed navel force. He was very much loved by his people and remained a roll model for them. He made friends with the mavlies, the tribal people and imbibed a spirit of nationalism among them. His spirit of patriotism remained an inspiration to the national leaders like Tilak, Savarkar etc.

Are such rules required? Why?

From the time of arrival at the school in the morning till the time of leaving the school in the evening, the various activities of the school i.e. assembly, teaching of various subjects, sports etc. are all conducted in a systematic manner. All this is happening according to a timetable that our Head Master, teachers, and students have prepared. We know that it is difficult to run a school without any rules.

In the same way, in order to govern a country, a constitution must be drafted that includes the head of state, the government, the legislature, the judiciary, and so on. There is an opportunity to provide proper governance to the people based on its contents.

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Like all the other countries in the world, our country, India has a well-prepared constitution to rule ourselves smoothly without any disturbance. In this lesson we are going to learn the brief introduction to the Indian constitution and its salient features like the Fundamental Rights, Fundamental Duties etc.

9.1. Brief background of the Indian Constitution:

Dear learners you know very well that before independence, our India was ruled by the British. Can you say there was any Constitution for India during the British rule? No, there was no constitution for India. They ruled India according to the acts made by the British Parliament. Among them, Government of India Act - 1935 was an important Act. It was provided for the establishment of an all-India federation consisting of Provinces and Princely states.The act divided the powers between the Centre and States into three lists. This act introduced diarchy at the centre.It also introduced the autonomy of the states.

3.1.1.Activities related to the Constitution during British rule:

In the year 1928, a committee was constituted by all the parties including Indian National Congress to draft the constitution for India. Motilal Nehru (father of Jawaharlal Nehru) acted as the chairman of this committee. This committee submitted its report in the year 1929. It was known as Nehru report. It was the first Constitutional Document. But it could not come into force because the British did not accept it.

In 1931, the Indian National Congress (INC) at Karachi session passed a resolution on how Independent India's Constitution should look like. Both Nehru report and Karachi resolution were committed to the Universal Adult Franchise, Right to Freedom and Equality.

The Constitution:

The basic law with a set of rules of a country which show the nature of the country, form of the government, rights and duties of the citizens is called the Constitution.

It is either in written form or non-written form. Our Indian Constitution is in written form, whereas British constitution is in non-written form.

Accordingly, Provinces or areas under the British rule elected 292 members and all Princely States together nominated 93 members. Four members were elected from Delhi, Ajmer-Mewad, Koorg and British Baluchistan. With this the total members of the Indian Constituent Assembly reached 389. Among the 389 members, 26 members were from Scheduled Castes and 9 members were from women. With the partition of the country in August 1947, the Constituent Assembly was also bifurcated into the Indian Constituent assembly and the Pakistan Constituent Assembly. The Indian Constituent Assembly had 299 members. It elected Dr. Babu Rajendra Prasad, as its President.

Dr. Babu Rajendra Prasad

He was the President of The Indian Constituent Assembly. Later, he was elected as the first President of Independent India on 24th January 1950, in the last session of the Constituent Assembly. He is the only president to have been re-elected for a second term (1950 - 1962).

- Democratic form of government.
- Sovereignty of the people.
- The Parliamentary form of government.

Now, we shall discuss about the Fundamental Rights and Fundamental Duties. You will learn in detail about the remaining features in the higher classes.

3.3.1.Fundamental Rights:

Rights are reasonable claims of persons. Fundamental rights are a set of rights that are recognized under the Constitution of a country to protect their citizens. These rights give people a protection from the oppressive governments and the duty of the government is to uphold them. They are directly protected by the Supreme court of India and High courts.

At present there are six Fundamental Rights that are mentioned from Article 14 to 32 in Part 3 of the Constitution of India. They are shown in the Fig. 3.5.

Fig-3.5: Fundamental Rights

At the time of our Indian constitution coming into force, we had seven Fundamental Rights. But, in the year 1978 the Right to Property was deleted from the list of the Fundamental Rights through 44thConstitutional amendment.

Fundamental Rights

Fundamental Right	Explanation
1. Right to Equality (Article 14 - 18)	The Indian Constitution guarantees the Right to Equality. It includes equal protection of law, social equality, equal opportunities in employment and education, abolition of untouchability and abolition of titles.

Right to Freedom (Article 19 - 22)	The Right to Freedom guarantees the following six freedoms: Freedom of speech and expression, Freedom to assemble peacefully without arms, Freedom to form associations or unions, Freedom to move freely, Freedom to reside and settle in any part of India, Freedom to participate in any profession and right to life.
3. Right against Exploitation (Article 23 - 24)	Under this Right, all forms of "forced labour are prohibited". It also prohibits child labour. The Constitution states, "no child below the age of 14 shall be employed to work in any factory or mines or engaged in any other hazardous work."

The Constitution of India guarantees some rights to its citizens and people who choose to live in the country. However, there are also some duties that we as citizens are expected to accomplish.

Example 1: How indiscipline in the classroom can lead to chaos. For example:

What I am allowed to do in the school	What I am not allowed to do in the school
Make a good behaviour in the class	Indisciplined behaviour in the class.
Use the library	Jump on the benches
Play in the ground	Write on the walls

Above information denoted that, "safeguard public property and abjure violence".

Example :

A group of friends decided to celebrate a festival – they blocked the road, set up a stage and installed massive amplifiers that blared music for a long distance. According to them, it was part of their Right to Freedom guaranteed under the Fundamental Right. Due to this, the people in the neighborhood had to spend a sleepless night. Their right is denied.

Given example - denote that "protect and improve the natural environment".

The above two examples show the need of awareness on the duties and responsibilities of citizens.

3.4. Values and Responsible Citizenship:

Values are those inner standards that provide you the motivation to act as you do. Values signify what is important and worthwhile. They serve as the basis for moral codes and ethical reflection.Individuals have their own values, based on many factors, such as family, peers, social background,e.t.c.You are willing to publicly stand by your values.Not only you are proud of your choice not to cheat.But you will also speak about your position and even try to convince others not to cheat.You declare by your actions and words that you value honesty and integrity.Your value shows up in every aspect of your life.You don't just talk about having honesty and integrity, you live it.You will associate with people who also value honesty and integrity. 10.1. How does the State government form and work?

In India we have the government at two levels. One is at the centre and the other is at the state. All the states and union territories have separate governments to run their own administration and they work according to our the Indian constitution.

https://amaravathiteacher.com

The state Government is responsible for the governance of the people of the State. The State Government manages the affairs of the state at three organs. i.e., 1. Legislative, 2. Executive, 3. Judiciary. Now let us learn more about Legislature, one of the three organs of State Government.

4.1.1. Legislature:

The Governor, Legislative Assembly and Legislative Council are together called a state legislature. The primary function of the state legislature is to enact Laws.

Governor:

Every state in Inida have a Governor. The President of India nominates the Governor on the recommendation of the Prime Minister and his cabinet, for a term of five years. The voters should not reveal to whom they cast their vote. After completion of polling, all votes are counted on a scheduled date.After counting votes, the candidate who gets the majority of the votes is declared MLA (Member of Legislative Assembly) of that constituency. 5.1. Road Safety:

In early human life, there was no problem of traffic or road safety. The invention of the wheel created rapid changes in the usage of roads. Nowadays road users increased due to the growth of population, industrialisation and urbanisation. It led to the increase of traffic. Road safety refers to the safety of road users including pedestrians, cyclists, motorists, other passengers in the usage of road.

Think & Respond

How can you say that traffic problem has increased due to urbanization?

5.1.1. Road Safety Education :

The approach that is aimed to educate children and young people to behave responsibly on the road is known as road safety education thereby ensuring that they become responsible drivers, passengers, pedestrians and cyclists.

Effective road safety education will give students opportunities to develop the knowledge, skills and attitudes to help themselves make informed and make safer decisions in traffic and traffic environment. It involves rules such as speed limits and those about drunk and driving, and control systems, such as traffic signs and road marking signs.

5.1.2.Need and significance of Road Safety Education:

Due to the lack of awareness and other reasons people are exposed to increased risks. Especially teenagers are an important group of road users. The following pie chart (Fig 11.3) also shows the same thing. It is necessary to teach the road safety measures clearly not only to avoid accidents but also for safe and comfortable road use.

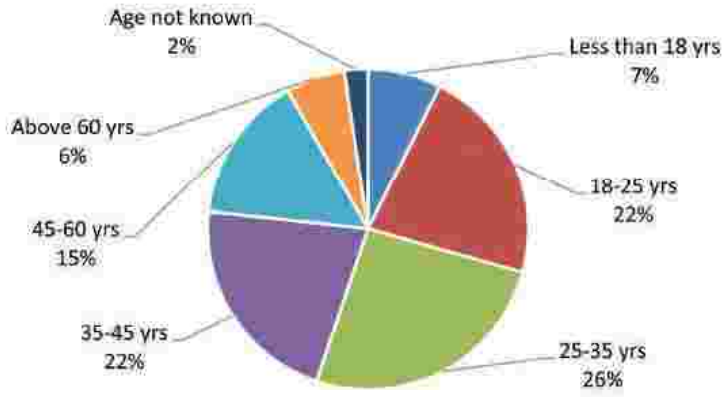

Fig:5.2: Age profile of road accident - related deaths in 2019 in India

Road Accidents Report-2019 by Ministry of Road Transport and Hiways.

- According to the above pie chart, in which age group do you find more accident cases? Why were more cases recorded at that age?
- How many cases are there in the age group of both 18–25 and 35–45?

Do You Know?

The Global status report on road safety 2013 estimates that more than 2,31,000 people are killed in road accidents in India every year. Approximately half of all deaths on the country's roads are among vulnerable road users - motorcyclists, pedestrians and cyclists.

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Do You Know?

Road Safety Week:

Road safety week is organized every year in the month of January by the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways in India. A variety of programmes related to road safety are organized to aware people on road safety, driving rules and cautions and to reduce road accidents related to deaths.

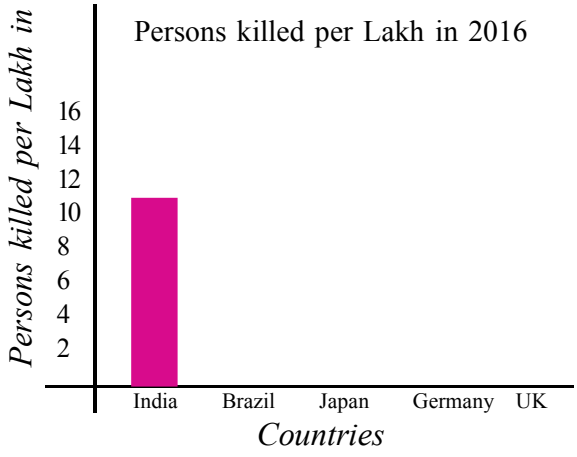

Table:5.1 Country wise number of injury accidents, persons killed and injured with rankings per country

- What is the source of income of your family?
- What do you mean by monthly salary?

6.1. Sources of Income:

Income comes from different sources. The important income sources are salaries, wages, profits, rents, interest, investment returns, shares and dividends. Agricultural labour and workers who work in unorganized sectors get wages and the employees working in the organized sector get salaries. Business people get profit. Moneylenders get interest. Land and property owners get rent.

Let's Do

- Prepare a list of goods and services and categorise them into paid goods and services and free goods and services.
- Prepare a list of occupations in different sectors.

Think & Respond

- What is the source of income of your family?
- How does a farmer earn money for his/her family needs?

Explore

6.2. Different Types of Markets:

Fig-6.2: A Cloth Shop

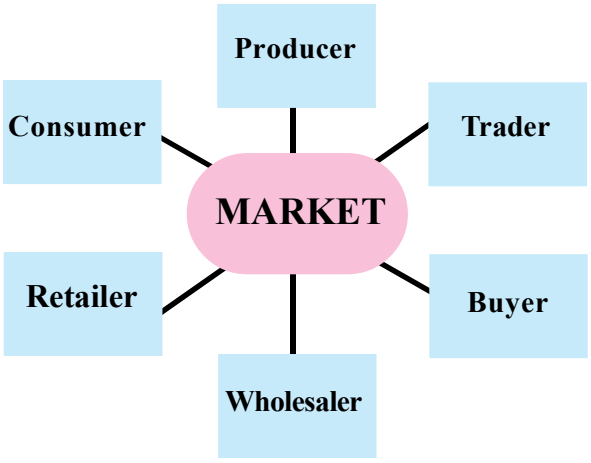

Fig-6.3: General Stores

Think & Respond

Observe the above pictures and answer the following questions:

- What is the shop in the first picture?
- What are the persons doing in the first picture?
- What do you observe in the second picture?
- Name some items kept in the shelves of the general store.

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Think & Respond

- Have you ever visited a market?
- Name the goods or items which are available in a market.
- Do all kind of goods available in a local market?

Market: A market is a place where buyers and sellers interact with each other.

Types of Markets:

Depending upon the nature and geographical location, markets can be broadly classified into two types. They are: 1. Physical Markets and 2. e-Commerce Markets.

12.2.1. Physical Markets:

A Physical market is a place where buyers can physically meet the sellers and purchase the desired items from them. Shopping malls, departmental stores, retail stores are some examples of physical markets.

Markets based on the Geographical Location:

On the basis of geographical location physical markets are classified as:

Local Markets: When the competition between a purchaser and a seller is localised and limited to specific area is called a local market.

- What are the goods available in your local market?

Regional Markets: These markets cover a wider area than local markets depending upon the availability of the goods in a particular region or even a group of states or districts.

- List the goods which are available in your region.

National Markets: This is a market in which the trade for the goods and services takes place in a nation as a whole.

- Name some goods which has a National market.

International Market: Trading of goods and services among different countries is known as the International market. In other words, we can say the demand for a product is global.

Ex: Jewellery, Petrolium... etc.

Think & Respond

- Differentiate National and International Markets.
- What is the importance of local markets?
- Name some spices which are available in your local markets.

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Physcial Markets based on Nature: On the basis of nature physical markets are classified as:

Neighborhood Markets: There are many shops that sell goods in our neighbourhood. We may buy sugar, rice, wheat or dal etc from a groceries shop, stationary from a bookstall, eatables or medicines from other shops. Some of these shops are permanent while some are temporary stalls or movable carts with vegetables, fruits etc.

Fig-6.4: Movable Shops

Shops in the neighbourhood are useful in several ways. They are very near to our home and we can go there at any time of the day or week.

As the buyer and the seller know each other these shops provide goods on credit also. It means that you can pay for the purchases later.

Akhil and his mother Vijaya went to a nearby shop to buy groceries. It is the shop they usually go. It is the only shop where all the required groceries are available in their area. Vijaya gave a list of groceries to the shop owner and he began asking his helpers to weigh and pack the items. Meanwhile, Akhil looked at the shelves in the shop consisting of different items arranged in an attractive manner.

It took almost 15 minutes to pack and bill the groceries. Then Vijaya paid the amount through her credit card but Akhil got a doubt and asked his mother why she had paid with a card and where had she got that card from. Then Vijaya explained him what a credit card is and how payments are done through the card.

Do You Know?

CREDIT CARD: A plastic card issued by financial institution (Eg: Banks) that allows you to buy things on credit. Example : Banks.

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Think & Respond

Answer the questions given below based on the above paragraph.

- What kind of shops do you observe in your neighbourhood? What kind of goods do you purchase from them?

Explore

Ask your teacher about how to get a credit card and how it is useful to us.

Weekly Market (Santha):

Think & Respond

- "The prices of goods are cheaper at weekly markets than the neighbourhood markets or shopping malls". Why?

In some areas markets are held on a particular day of the week. These markets are called weekly markets. All the traders set up shops for the day and then close them in the evening. Such markets are there in India in several numbers. The people of the surrounding area come to the market for their daily needs. Various products like vegetables, grain, animals, forest products etc. are available here.

The things in weekly markets are available at cheaper rates because these shops are temporary in nature. Moreover, the same goods are available in all the shops of a weekly market, so that the consumers can bargain for a cheaper rate (price). In the weekly markets, all the shops may be run by the sellers with the help of their family members, hence they do not need to hire workers.

One important advantage of a weekly market is that most of the things we need are available at one place whether you want vegetables, groceries or cloth items, utensils. All of them can be found here. You do not have to go to different areas to buy different things. People also prefer going to a market where they have a choice and a variety of goods.

Fig-6.5: Weekly Market

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Rythu Bazar: This is a farmer's market in our state and it was started in January 1999.This market is being run by Government of Andhra Pradesh, for the benefit of farmers and to avoid middle men between the farmers and consumers. Marginal and small scale farmers can directly sell the vegetables directly to the consumers and can get a good price for their products. These markets became economical for both farmers and consumers and ensured good quality of products.

Think & Respond

- What are the advantages of Rythu Bazar?
- Do you have any weekend market in your area? If so, write a few lines about the market?

Shopping Malls:

In the urban and semiurban areas, large multistoried air-conditioned buildings with shops on different floors are known as shopping malls. In these malls, one can get both branded and non-branded goods. Branded goods are expensive, often promoted by advertising and claims of better quality. The companies producing these products sell them through these malls. Mostly during festival days, these malls announce discounts on products to attract the customers.

Fewer people can afford to buy branded ones.

Fig-6.6: Inside of a Shopping Mall

Let's Do

- Collect and display different images of various shopping malls.
- Prepare an advertisement on a particular good of your choice.

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Think & Respond

- "Discounts and offers increase sales". Do you agree with this statement? Discuss.

Shopping Complex:

Many shops are found in one compound in urban areas, known as shopping complex. In these shopping complexes we can buy variety of goods in one compound.

Fig-6.7: Shopping Complex

Let's Do

- Differentiate between shopping malls and shopping complexes?

Do You Know?

We find floating Market in Srinagar, Jammu and Kashmir. Vegetable trade takes place through boats from 5am to 7am in the most picturesque Dal Lake of Srinagar. These boats are called Shikara in the local language. Besides vegetables, wood carvings, saffron and other local goods also available on these Shikaras. Tourists of various nations enjoy the shopping in Dal Lake.

Fig-6.8: Floating Market

Think & Respond

Do you observe any floating market in your area?

12.2.2. e-Commerce: So far, we have discussed physical markets where people directly buy and sell goods. These markets are confined to a particular place or region and work during day time or at a particular time of the day.

However, now a days days we are very busy, sometimes we are unable to go to the market.In such situations we can place orders through our mobile phone or a computer device with internet and can buy a verity of things which we like without stepping out from our home. This kind of market is known as e-commerce.

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Electronic commerce or e-commerce is a business platform that allows buyers and sellers to buy or sell things over the internet.

Think & Respond

- How can you buy goods through online markets?
- What are the advantages and disadvantages of online shopping?
- How do you pay for online shopping?
- "Buying goods through online market affects the local traders". Do you agree / disagree with this statement? Give your reasons.

Fig-6.9: e-Commerce

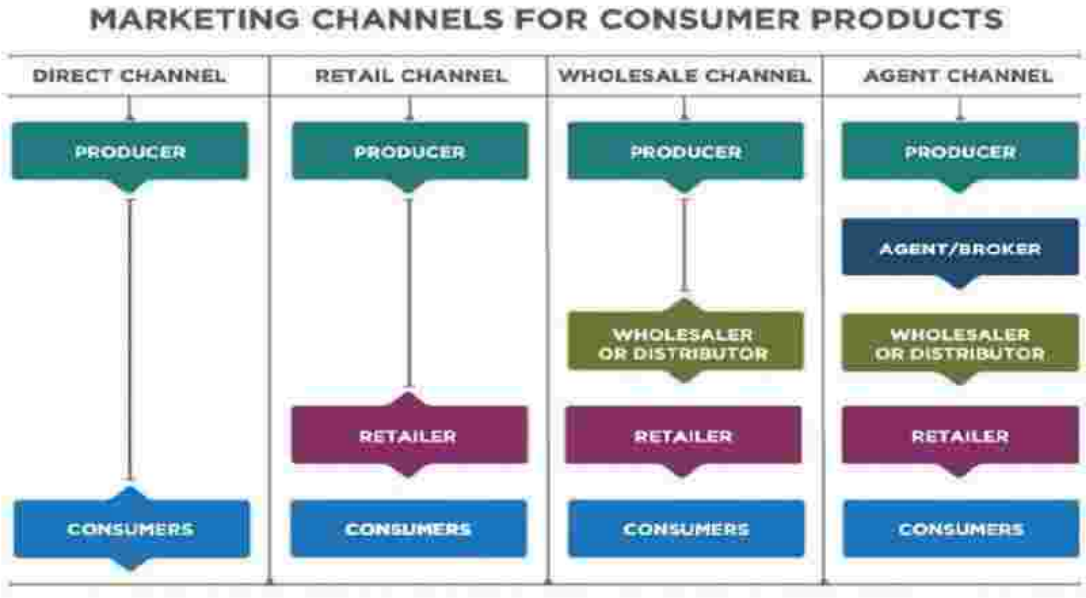

Explore

- Ask your parents or elders and collect information about an online platform that allows you to sell and buy goods.

12.3. Chain of Markets:

So far so we have discussed markets from where we buy goods but the question is from where are these goods obtained?

Goods are produced by industries and agricultural farms, of course in homes (cottage industries) too. But the producers of the goods whether they are industrialists or farmers do not show any interest to sell their products in small quantities. So, they sell their products to traders. The people in between the producers and the final consumers are the traders.

https://amaravathiteacher.com

- Observe the above flow chart and with the help of your teacher, find out which way the customer is getting cheaper and the reason for it?
- The price of the products hike if there is an agent between the producers and consumers. Discuss.

A person is a wholesale trader of fruits. He purchases different kinds of fruits in bulk from different areas i.e., Mangoes from Nujiveedu and Vulavapadu, grapes from Ananthapur and Bangalore, pomegranate from Sholapur, bananas from Mahanandi and Nanded and stores them in his warehouse. All the retail fruit merchants and hawkers of the town purchase these fruits from that person and then they sell the same to the consumers in the town and in the surrounding villages.

Let's Do

- Visit a wholesale shop and collect the prices of different goods and compare the same with the prices of a retail shop.
- Collect the products that come from farms and prepare a list. Categorise them into perishable and non-perishable goods.

Think & Respond

Answer the following questions based on the information given in the above box.

- How does a retailer get goods for his shop?
- How do you think a wholesaler is important in the distribution of goods?

Do You Know?

Cottage industry is a production system that relies on producing goods or parts of goods, by craftsmen at home or small workshops, by individuals, small teams or family units instead of large factories.

Think & Respond

- "Cottage industries are a boon to the rural unemployed". Discuss.
- Do you have any cottage industries in your area?

Let's Do

- List the goods which are exported from your region to other areas.

12.4. Consumer Rights:

Consumer: A consumer is a person who buys goods or services for his personal use.

Consumer Protection: Protecting consumer rights is a very important aspect of the market. Consumer protection is a group of laws enacted to protect the rights of the consumer.

https://amaravathiteacher.com

Consumer protection Act 2019:

On 9th August 2019, consumer protection act was approved. It aims to provide timely and effective administration and settlement of consumer dispute in the digital age.

This Act has widened the definition of a consumer. It defines any person who buys any goods, whether through offline or online transactions, electronic means, teleshopping, direct selling or multi level marketing.

Consumer Rights:

1. The right to be protected against the marketing of goods, products or services which are hazardous to life and property.

3. The right to be assured, wherever possible, access to a variety of goods, products or services at competitive prices.
4. The right to seek redressal against unfair trade practices or restrictive trade practices or unscrupulous exploitation of consumers: and
5. The right to consumer awareness.

Think & Respond
